Synopsis: 1936, Borley village, England. Lionel, his wife Marianne, and their daughter Adelaide move into town, where Lionel has been posted as the new reverend. He's been tasked by the Church to renew the villagers' faith, which has been lost after the disturbing, unexplained deaths of the previous reverend's family — at the very same mysterious manor where Lionel and his family have settled into. Soon after their arrival, strange events start to occur: ghostly voices, menacing ravens, mysterious wooden totems, and a bruise on Adelaide's leg that grows larger and darker by the day. It soon becomes clear that a malicious entity seeks to possess Adelaide and that the Church and the villagers of Borley are hiding a terrible secret... As the menacing spirit grows stronger, Lionel and Marianne have to confront their beliefs and enlist the help of Harry Price, a famous occultist who's battled the evil spirit once before. Together, they must uncover the terrifying truth about their house and the paranormal force which inhabits it... and hope it isn't already too late for Adelaide.

The Bookshop

Cast: Emily Mortimer, Bill Nighy, Patricia Clarkson
Genre: Drama
Director: Isabel Coixet
Status: Post-Production

Synopsis: Based on Penelope Fitzgerald's novel of the same name; 'The Bookshop' is set in 1959, Florence Green (Emily Mortimer), a free spirited widow, puts grief behind her and risks everything to open up a bookshop - the first such shop in the sleepy seaside town of Hardborough, England. Fighting damp, cold and considerable local apathy she struggles to establish herself but soon her fortunes change for the better. By exposing the narrow minded local townsfolk to the best literature of the day including Nabokov's scandalising "Lolita" and Ray Bradbury's "Fahrenheit 451", she opens their eyes thereby causing a cultural awakening in a town which has not changed for centuries. Her activities bring her a kindred spirit and ally in the figure of Mr Brundish (Bill Nighy) who is himself sick of the town's stale atmosphere. But this mini social revolution soon brings her fierce enemies: she invites the hostility of the town's less prosperous shopkeepers and also crosses Mrs. Gamart (Patricia Clarkson) Harborough's vengeful, embittered alpha female who is herself a wannabe doyenne of the local arts scene. When Florence refuses to bend to Gamart's will, they begin a struggle not just for the bookshop but for the very heart and soul of the town.

Charismata

Genre: Thriller
Director: Andy Collier
Status: Completed

Synopsis: Rebecca Faraway fears she might be out of her depth. As a rookie detective struggling to find acceptance in a police department defined by a culture of bullying and intolerance, things go from bad to worse when the chief suspect in a series of brutal ritualistic murders takes a personal interest in her. A game of cat and mouse ensues which sees Rebecca's grasp on reality beginning to spiral out of control, leading to a terrifying climax where she needs to fight for her sanity, her life and maybe even her soul. Set in a bleak and cynical post-2016 London, Charismata combines a tense, fast moving police thriller reminiscent of Fincher's "Se7en" with a nightmarish, paranoia-infused psychological horror story which tips its hat to Polanski's classic Apartment Trilogy: "Repulsion", "Rosemary's Baby" and "The Tenant".

Synopsis: Sam is the world's toughest female bodyguard, tasked with protecting high profile targets for terrorism and assassination. She fought her way to the top in a man's world and feels more at home in the war zones of Sudan than back at her L.A. apartment. When she's assigned to protect a VIP in Morocco, she thinks she's in for a quick and easy job. That VIP turns out to be Zoe, a young and very rich heiress who's never left her bubble of wealth and who isn't keen on being baby sat. Sam can take a bullet for a president, but young privileged girls aren't her specialty — especially a spoiled one. When Zoe's bulletproof, secluded compound comes under attack in an explosive kidnapping attempt, Sam's skills are put to the test. Accused of murder themselves, they must find a way to work together, determined to and hunt the attackers and their corrupt employers.

Synopsis: Ellen Page stars in this gloriously terrifying yet thought-provoking horror thriller about the fraught process of reintegrating formerly infected flesh-eaters into society in the aftermath of a zombie plague. If the past 50 years of zombie movies have taught us anything, it's that there are fates worse than death. But how are we to feel when the dead come back to us as — seemingly — the same old neighbours, colleagues, and loved ones we once knew? Starring Academy Award nominee Ellen Page (also at this year's Festival in My Days of Mercy) and Sam Keeley, David Freyne's accomplished first feature presents an unfathomable dilemma: what happens after a zombie plague has been contained and cured, and those once infected attempt to reintegrate into society? Senan (Keeley) has been through hell. When the plague swept across Ireland he was among the thousands afflicted and rendered into rabid ghouls. Senan did horrible things he cannot forget — and neither can the public, nor the authorities charged with policing those released from captivity. Senan's sister-in-law Abbie (Page), however, is willing to give him a second chance. She lets him live with her and her young son, believing that Senan's actions while infected were beyond his control. But as an angry anti-cured movement burgeons in tandem with an increasingly radicalized pro-cured movement, Abbie is forced to question just how far her trust should be pushed. Like any great zombie flick, The Cured works on several levels: it's a gloriously terrifying horror-thriller packed with enough jump scares to satisfy genre fans, yet it also displays an intellect and heart that provoke empathy even as it takes aim at the ways in which humans beings fail each other.

Synopsis: X-Trem Limit is a famous British TV show. The concept of the show is to take a random person and make him surpass his limits through a series of extreme sports tests. The show team decides to bring a touch of exoticism in the selection of their candidate. They want a French actor. Kate, the presenter, and Tim, the cameraman, embark David, a French candidate, for a series of four tests. The fourth test must be a base jump. But our three protagonists are surprised in the mountain by a storm of a rare violence. They find refuge in a medieval castle in the middle of nowhere. During the night, strange sounds resound in the immense castle, scary cries, half human, half animal. They are soon chased by a psychopathic killer, with strange tattoos and dressed like a Knight Templar from the twelve century. Kate, David and Tim will have to surpass their limits in order to survive this nightmare.

Synopsis: When Rosa, a lonely but gifted art expert, is hired to authenticate the origins of a 6,000-year-old bowl a surprising relationship develops. They can see into each other's pasts and, given its age, the Bowl has an extensive repertoire of stories of outlandish human behaviour through the years, which it recalls in witty, atmospheric style. Meanwhile, Rosa has taken in house-guest Nicki, a manipulative temptress with an ever-growing trail of scorned lovers. Nicki embarks on stealing and selling the contents of Rosa's flat while seducing and swindling her way through London. Rosa's hapless quest for romance sees her dates becoming increasingly disastrous, her frustration eventually leading her to kidnap the TV dating expert whose advice had only worsened her situation. All the time, Rosa is trying to keep the Bowl to herself, desperately avoiding Marius, the eccentric antiques collector who initially sought her valuation of the piece. With a guardian angel returned from the dead running all over town keeping Nicki safe and out of trouble, Rosa somehow survives the legion of colourful characters and mayhem surrounding her. But will this quirky entourage – not least the watchful eye of the Bowl – make or break her search for love?

Synopsis: Herb's life is a mess. He's lost his welfare, can't hold a job, can't talk to his son, has a neighbour who won't shut up and a diet that consists mainly of cheap beer and mushy peas. It's no way to live and he knows it. Then he learns from a TV news report that Danish prisoners have it way better than he does: a job, accessible healthcare, the quiet of the countryside, even an HDTV. They're practically living in hotels. He says goodbye (and good riddance) to his dingy flat and smuggles himself to Denmark aboard a cargo ship, landing in a quaint town with everything he needs -- including a bank to rob. But when he meets a friendly local barmaid and a lovable stray dog that won't leave his side, he begins to wonder if prison really is his only chance of a fulfilling life.

Synopsis: An intimate, revealing musical odyssey on the life and career of guitar virtuoso Eric Clapton, told by those who have known him best, including BB King, Jimi Hendrix, and George Harrison. The press conference for this film takes place on Monday, September 11 at 10:30am. For Eric Clapton, blues music made a strong impression at a young age: "It was always one man with his guitar versus the world. He was completely alone and had no options other than to just sing and play to ease his pain." Over a five-decade career, Clapton has proven himself to be a guitar virtuoso, creating rock music deeply influenced by the blues. In this documentary, he reflects candidly on how his life experiences were channelled into music. The film traces his career through The Yardbirds, Cream, Blind Faith, Derek and the Dominos, and his solo years, telling the stories behind hits like "For Your Love," "Layla," and "Tears in Heaven."

Synopsis: Professor Phillip Goodman (Andy Nyman), psychologist and arch-sceptic, has his rationality tested to the hilt when he stumbles across a long-lost file containing details of three terrifying 'hauntings'. Shaken by what he reads, Goodman embarks on a mission to find rational explanations for these ghostly stories. As Goodman investigates, he meets three tormented people, each with a tale more frightening, uncanny and inexplicable than the last. Night-watchman Tony Matthews (Paul Whitehouse) had a horrifying encounter in an empty warehouse and it has haunted him for years. Teenager Simon Rifkind (Alex Lawther) took a late night drive that has rendered him unable to sleep. Mike Priddle (Martin Freeman), a brash banker, has had his worldview shaken to the core by unquiet spirits that apparently inhabit his otherwise perfect existence. As Goodman digs into their stories, his carefully maintained and rational world starts to dissolve around him. Is it a trick of the mind or are darker forces at work? Gradually Goodman is drawn towards the unearthing of a long-buried secret that will pull his life, and everything he thought he knew, apart.

Grace Jones: Bloodlight And Bami

Cast: Grace Jones, Jean-Paul Goude, Sly And Robbie
Genre: Documentary
Director: Sophie Fiennes
Status: Completed

Synopsis: Larger than life, wild, scary and androgynous – Grace Jones plays all these parts. Yet here we also discover her as a lover, daughter, mother, sister and even grandmother, as she submits herself to our gaze and allows us to understand what constitutes her mask. The stage is where her most extreme embodiments are realised and her theatrical imagination lets loose: this is where the musical of her life is played out. The film includes Grace's unique performances singing iconic hits such as Slave To The Rhythm, Pull Up To The Bumper, as well as the more recent autobiographical tracks Williams' Bloods and Hurricane. These personal songs also link to Grace's family life, as the film takes us on a holiday road trip across Jamaica, where her family roots and the story of her traumatic childhood are uncovered. In Jamaican patois, 'Bloodlight' is the red light that illuminates when an artist is recording and 'Bami' means bread, the substance of daily life. Grace Jones: Bloodlight and Bami weaves together the layers of Grace Jones' public and private life, as she moves effortlessly between different facets: she is gypsy, artist and partying hedonist, warm and funny but also a fierce and tenacious businesswoman. The performance continues to move thematically through the film, with Love Is The Drug acting like an aria, bringing the film to its final and most touching scenes. This is a Grace we have not seen before, someone who reminds us of what it is to dare to be truly alive.

Synopsis: Britain, modern day. When twentysomething Claire's mental and physical health worsen, she starts to see sinister visions in her house. Her cousin Anna, whom she lives with, is dubious at first, but finally decides to call on the local priest for counsel. Claire's parents, angered by Anna's intervention, insist Claire sees a psychiatrist instead. As the visions grow more terrifying, the priest and the psychiatrist battle each other in an effort to gain control of Claire. Her family are relieved when she's finally sectioned and medicated. But whatever was haunting the cousins' house is very real indeed, and now has free reign; furthermore its target wasn't Claire, it was Anna all along. In The Heiress we're introduced to the female entity Lillith, who has helped and hampered the family's female line for 4 generations. Charting their story from the twenties to the modern day, the women finally realise they must break free from their supernatural patron and seize back their independence. An intelligent supernatural horror focused on the centuries old conflict between religion and science.

Synopsis: The story of the Polish fliers who found themselves fighting for the freedom of their own country in foreign skies. Seen through the eyes of Jan Zumbach, fighter ace and adventurer, it tells how the Poles, driven across Europe by the German war machine, finally made their last stand. Flying Hurricanes for the RAF over Britain, they became a key component in the legend of 'The Few'. Up against the might of the Luftwaffe they hoped that, by saving Great Britain from Nazi invasion, they were keeping the dream of a free Poland alive. In the lethal melee above England in that summer of 1940, they fought with a tenacity and skill that earned them the admiration of the whole British nation. The dogfights against superior planes cost some of the men their lives. The constant strain of gladiatorial combat took away the sanity of others. But, as Zumbach discovers as the war stutters to a close, becoming the best in the RAF is a hollow victory for the Poles. Hurricane shows how, even in a man's finest hour, cynical political manoeuvrings can destroy his hopes, strip away his dignity and lead him to a very dark place indeed.

Synopsis: In post-war Bristol, neophyte journalist Stephen Underwood is keen to prove his worth in a society where everyone is taught to know his or her place and not to question authority. He works for a local newspaper and yearns to break a big story while his editor, Frank Hamilton, is happy to keep him reporting on nothing more controversial than local community events. However, when Stephen stumbles across the suicide of a Polish soldier from the local Displace Persons' camp, he disregards Hamilton's objections and follows his instincts. Stephen heads to the camp to question the commanding officer, his estranged brother, Captain John Underwood, but John is far from happy to see him and is reluctant to answer any questions. Stephen meets Colonel Janusz Pietrowski, formerly of the Polish Second Corps (under British command) and now a Liaison Officer for the resettlement of Polish troops. When Stephen mentions the suicide, Pietrowski explains that many Poles had lost all hope since their homeland was occupied by Soviet Russia and many fear for their lives but Stephen remains sceptical. Stephen is also intimately involved with Jeanette Mitchell, a Junior Commander in the Auxiliary Territorial Service, who works under his brother at the DP camp. She is trapped in a marriage of convenience with a homosexual military intelligence officer, Mason Mitchell. Both Stephen and Jeanette dream of escaping to London and starting a new life together and in the course of a clandestine meeting in a local public house, Stephen witnesses a confrontation between a new arrival at the camp, Michael Loboda, and a local farmer. During the argument Loboda inadvertently claims he is Russian and not Polish. Curious as to what a Russian is doing posing as a Polish refugee, Stephen questions Loboda. Loboda believes his life is in danger but will not say why and threatens to kill Stephen if he presses him further. Undaunted, Stephen steals a small metal cash-box from Loboda's belongings whilst he is asleep. Inside the box he finds a blood-stained diary belonging to a young Polish cadet but before Stephen can determine its significance, Loboda disappears from the camp in mysterious circumstances. Thus begins Stephen's journey into the unknown and his discovery that Loboda is in fact the last witness left in the West who could testify to the execution of Polish nationals by Stalin's secret police in 1940 and that the diary is conclusive proof of their guilt. He then becomes embroiled in a dangerous and multi-layered conspiracy to suppress the truth about the killings.

Mandela's Children

Genre: Documentary
Director: Kemal Akhtar
Status: Post-Production

Synopsis: To some he was known as 'The Black Pimpernel' or 'terrorist'. For years he was 'Prisoner 46664', and latterly, 'President' of a liberated nation. To some he's known as 'The Father of Africa' and all free countries, and to twenty three people he's just 'Grandfather'. This is the true story of the greatest political figure of the 20th Century - Nelson Mandela - revealed in his own words, with his beloved family by his side. Exclusively featuring Mr Mandela's last ever recorded interviews; it is a revealing portrait of an iconic man who is humble, reflective, warm and open. Mr Mandela's story is told using his last to-camera interviews, uniquely featuring questions posed by his own family, archive footage, and breakthrough documentary techniques. Even in his final days, his thoughts on the growth of his beloved South Africa, political life and the development of the anti apartheid movement remain captivating. Time may temper his frame, but it hasn't drowned the strength of his voice.

Synopsis: Having never won a major tournament, ailing football giant SSC Napoli had criminally underachieved. Their fanatical support was unequalled in both passion and size. None was more feared. But how they ached for success...On 5th July 1984, Diego Maradona arrived in Naples for a world-record fee and for seven years all hell broke loose. The world's most celebrated football genius and the most dysfunctional city in Europe were a perfect match for each other. Maradona was blessed on the field but cursed off it; the charismatic Argentine, quickly led Naples to their first-ever title. It was the stuff of dreams. But there was a price... Diego could do as he pleased whilst performing miracles on the pitch, but when the magic faded he became almost a prisoner of the city. The third film from the Academy Award and BAFTA-winning team behind Senna and Amy, the film will be constructed from over 500 hours of never-before-seen footage from Maradona's personal archive and in the style of Senna and Amy, will be a high-end and definitive feature documentary made with the full support of Maradona. In a city where the devil would have needed bodyguards, Maradona became bigger than God himself. This is the wild and unforgettable story of God-given talent, glory, despair and betrayal, of corruption and ultimately redemption.

Synopsis: "My shows are about Sex, Drugs and Rock n' Roll. It's for the excitement and the goosebumps. I want heart attacks. I want ambulances." 'Lee' Alexander McQueen's rags-to-riches story is a modern-day fairy tale laced with the gothic. An unremarkable working-class boy from East London, he harnessed his demons and went on to become a global one man fashion brand and one of the most iconic artists of the century. How did this punk rebel overturn the silver-spoon world of Paris haute couture, ushering in the heady, revolutionary era of 'Cool Britannia'? And why, at the height of acclaim and power, did he shockingly put an end to it all? Mirroring the savage beauty, boldness and vivacity of his design, this film is an intimate revelation of McQueen's own world, both tortured and inspired, which celebrates a radical and mesmerising genius of profound influence.

Mum's List

Cast: Rafe Spall, Emilia Fox, Elaine Cassidy
Genre: Drama
Director: Niall Johnson
Status: Completed

Synopsis: A beautiful and heart-breaking movie based on the international best-selling book, MUM'S LIST tells the true story of Singe Greene, who had to deal with the tragic loss to cancer of Kate, his wife and mother of his two children. St. John Greene ('Singe') never planned to write a book, let alone one like MUM'S LIST. An adventure-loving outdoor sports trainer, he met his future wife, Kate, when they were both teenagers, and they'd been together for more than twenty blissful years. Their perfect world crumbled when their first son Reef, was given a terrifying cancer diagnosis at just eighteen months old. With only a 6% chance of survival, doctors gave him mere days to live. Miraculously, Reef pulled through (and remains healthy to this day). But then, just as things were getting back to normal, Kate was diagnosed with an incurable breast cancer. For Kate, nothing was as important as the happiness and well-being of her family. With Singe she spent hours talking and crying about her hopes and dreams for her family—ones she would now never see realised. Over her last few days she created 'Mum's List', writing her thoughts and wishes and memories down, to help the man she loved create the best life possible for their sons after she was gone. Written on scraps of paper or sent as text messages, day and night, the list captured her passionate nature, her free spirit, her sense of humour, and her undying love for her family. Some entries were instructions...some, observations...others, memories to be kept alive forever. All of them, a memorial to the woman being forced to say goodbye.

Synopsis: With over 200 million album sales worldwide, and remaining the only artist to chart seven consecutive US No. 1's, Whitney Houston was the voice of a generation. Coming from an esteemed lineage of singers, Whitney was destined to be plucked from her gospel-singing roots to rule the world stage. She inspired a generation of singers from Mariah Carey to Beyoncé and her unforgettable performance of The Star-Spangled Banner unlocked an anthem that had for so long been dismissed by many black artists. But all these achievements have become a footnote to a story of addiction and self-destruction. With salacious stories filling the columns of tabloid papers and magazines, Whitney had the voice of an angel onstage, but was being torn apart by her demons offstage. Directed by Academy Award-winning filmmaker Kevin Macdonald (Marley, Touching the Void) and from two-time Academy Award-winning producer Simon Chinn (Man on Wire, Searching for Sugar Man), the film will for the first time, give audiences an unprecedented and unique look into Whitney's life. This will be an unflinching and honest portrait of a rare talent told by those closest to her. Made with full access to her family and collaborators, the film will showcase exclusive audio and never-before-seen video archive from her time as a recording artist and performer. By casting her story and her work in a new and revealing light, WHITNEY HOUSTON will reassess the life and legacy of one of music's biggest stars.

Synopsis: Over the past twenty-five years some works previously attributed to Johann Sebastian Bach have been re-attributed to other composers, barely causing a ripple in the placid waters within the classical music landscape, but when accomplished academic, musician and forensic document examiner, Professor Martin Jarvis, dares to suggest evidence exists advocating the great maestro's wife, Anna Magdalena, as a serious contender for recognition, the reaction of the Bach orthodoxy is swift and fierce, and access to key research materials is denied. This film asks why such a misogynistic attitude still persists in the twenty-first century, sets out the case for Anna Magdalena Bach and investigates the impact on the monetary value of Bach autographs in the wake of Jarvis' research.
