Adventures Of A Mathematician

Cast: Philippe Tlokinski, Joel Basman, Sam Keeley, Esther Garrel
Genre: Drama
Director: Thor Klein
Status: Completed
Synopsis: Based on the autobiography "Adventures of a Mathematician" by Stanislaw Ulam. Cambridge, USA, 1942. Stan Ulam is a 30-year-old talented Polish Jewish mathematician, a good-looking bon vivant who is quick with a joke. Stan's life becomes complicated when he loses his fellowship at Harvard but his best friend, the Hungarian genius Johnny von Neumann quickly offers him a mysterious job which takes him to New Mexico. Stan moves to Los Alamos with Françoise, a French woman he meets and marries after a whirlwind romance. Surrounded by young, eccentric, charismatic immigrant scientists Stan begins top secret work on a nuclear bomb that could potentially blow up the entire world. While desperately trying to help his sister flee Nazi occupied Poland, Stan teams up with Johnny to create the first computer giving birth to the digital age as Europe bursts into flames.

Baghdad In My Shadow

Cast: Haytham Abdulrazaq, Zahraa Ghandour, Shervin Alenabi, Waseem Abbas
Genre: Thriller
Director: Samir .
Status: Completed

Synopsis: London, just before Christmas. Amal, an ambitious architecture graduate from Baghdad, is working as a waitress in a little cafe. Only her close friend Taufiq knows that she falsely claimed asylum in England as a persecuted Christian. In reality, she was fleeing her violent husband. Her secret is safe with the poet Taufiq, who for his part is battling with his conscience: back in Iraq, he betrayed his own brother under torture. After his brother's death, he took care of his nephew Nasseer. Lately, however, Nasseer has been turning increasingly towards radical Islam and alienating himself from his atheist uncle. Muhanad also seeks refuge in the cafe. The computer specialist only recently left Baghdad to escape the threat posed to homosexuals there. Taufiq and his friends help him out with small IT jobs while Muhanad still does not dare to come out and introduce his German lover. Moreover, Amal's life is in danger when her ex-husband suddenly turns up in London. And the Salafist preacher at the mosque forces Nasseer to take sides and then take action against the „godless“ at the cafe...

The Banishing

Cast: Jessica Brown Findlay, Sean Harris, John Heffernan
Genre: Horror
Director: Chris Smith
Status: Post-Production

Synopsis: 1936, England. Linus, his wife Marianne, and their daughter Adelaide move into town, where Linus has been posted as the new reverend. He's been tasked by the Church to renew the villagers' faith, which has been lost after the disturbing, unexplained deaths of the previous reverend's family — at the very same mysterious manor where Linus and his family have settled into. Soon after their arrival, strange events start to occur: ghostly voices, dark figures dressed as monks, mysterious totems, and Adelaide's behaviour becoming stranger by the day. It soon becomes clear that a malicious entity seeks to possess Adelaide and that the Church is hiding a terrible secret... As the menacing spirit grows stronger, Linus and Marianne have to confront their beliefs and enlist the help of Harry Reed, a famous Occultist. Together, they must uncover the terrifying truth about their house and the paranormal force which inhabits it... and hope it isn't already too late for Adelaide.

Be Water

Genre: Documentary
Director: Bao Nguyen
Status: Completed

Synopsis: In 1971, before his superstardom, Bruce Lee returned to Hong Kong to get the opportunities to be a lead actor that eluded him in America. In the two years before his untimely death, Lee completed four films, which changed the history of film and made him a household name. Through rare archival footage, memories of family and friends, and his own words, the story of that time and Lee's prior experiences are told with an intimacy and immediacy that have infrequently been used in earlier tellings of his legend.

Behind The Blood

Genre: Documentary
Director: Loretta Van Der Horst
Status: Completed

Synopsis: Priest and furniture maker Daniel Pacheco works in one of the most dangerous cities in the world: San Pedro Sula, Honduras. He tries to save lives, but that's no simple matter in a country with staggeringly high murder rates. The killings are countless, not just by the drug cartels, but also by the police and the army. Pacheco lives in the midst of it, risking his own life. Reporting murders is everyday business for TV journalist Orlin Castro. He seems comfortable with the nocturnal violence, but at the same time he dreams of a different, quieter life. A hitman named Matathan talks openly about his profession. He says he has had enough and wants to start a new, pious existence. But Pacheco, who knows him well, doubts his sincerity. Following these three men, Dutch-American filmmaker Loretta van der Horst, who was born in Honduras, gets frighteningly close to the horrific violence that no one seems able to end. If you don't value your own life, Pacheco explains, it's easier to kill others.

Brighton

Cast: Larry Lamb, Lesley Sharp, Phil Davis, Marion Bailey, Adjoa Andoh
Genre: Comedy
Director: Stephen Cookson
Status: Completed
Synopsis: Brighton brings together the crème of British characters to portray Derek, Dinah, Dave and Doreen, two retired working-class couples, who return to the seaside resort of Brighton after an absence of 40 years in an uproarious attempt to relive their youth. Flashbacks to the 1950s reveal teenage Derek and Dave as a couple of lively cockney chancers out to pull as many girls as they can over the weekend, and Dinah and Doreen down from London and enjoying independence for the very first time in their lives. Strolling the promenade of the new millennium, the aged couples present a grotesque reflection of their heady rock-and-roll years as they struggle to come to terms with the changes in society and themselves. The couples' return provides Doreen with a chance meeting which reveals an act of self-sacrifice that finally brings closure to decades of remorse. However, a single bigoted act of aggression from Derek exposes the mutual intolerance of class, gender and sexual orientations still prevalent in Britain today and leads to a hilarious and memorable culture clash showdown between old world and new.

Buddy Goes To Nollywood

Cast: Buddy Munro, Nnamdi Odunze, Tiwa Savage
Genre: Documentary
Director: Michael Lebor
Status: Completed

Synopsis: Buddy Munro is a fascinating character. Ever since he experienced an unimaginable personal tragedy, he's had an insatiable desire to push the boundaries of what is possible. After struggling for 23 years trying to break into the UK's entertainment industry, with just enough money to stay in Nigeria for 10 days, he packs a small bag and heads off to Lagos to chase his dreams of being on the silver screen. Buddy's plan was to fly to Lagos and meet with famous Nollywood actors, producers and casting agents to try and land a movie role. What actually happened went beyond anyone's expectations. Buddy appeared on four TV programs in ten days, two of them were live shows and one had an audience of over one hundred million. He was interviewed for radio, newspapers and invited to every celebrity bash in town. He persuaded one of the biggest emerging directors in Nollywood to write a script for Buddy to star in, which they shot overnight, edited in one day and got it shown at the Abuja film festival, the biggest of its kind in Africa. Buddy's success got so out of hand that he decided to miss his flight and stay in Lagos.

The Canterville Ghost

Cast: Stephen Fry, Hugh Laurie, Freddie Highmore, Imelda Staunton, Miranda Hart, Toby Jones
Genre: Animation
Director: Kim Burdon
Status: Pre-Production

Synopsis: For 300 years, Sir Simon Canterville has been haunting his ancestral home, Canterville Chase, and loving it! But everything changes when an American family buys the estate and moves in. The family is unimpressed with Sir Simon's ghostly antics and does not find him scary at all... they actually find him to be a bit of a nuisance. It is not long before the family's young twin boys are scaring him out of his wits, chasing him through the corridors of Canterville, exhausting and weakening his spirit. Sir Simon becomes discouraged and crestfallen from the boys' pranks, but becomes hopeful when accompanied by the family's teenage daughter to embark on the journey to find what caused his 300 year-old curse. Sir Simon travels with Virginia through his past and into a magical garden where he comes face-to-face with his nemesis, the Grim Reaper, who challenges him to Sir Simon in a duel to release him from the curse. But if Sir Simon loses, he and Virginia will be trapped in the garden for all eternity. The Canterville Ghost is a warm-hearted adaptation of the literary classic tale, a love-story and a comedy with a spooky edge, a "very animated Oscar Wilde".

The Changin' Times Of Ike White

Genre: Documentary
Director: Daniel Vernon
Status: Completed

Synopsis: Ike White has been hiding out in San Diego, California under a pseudonym for decades. But why? This virtuoso musician made an extraordinary journey from life behind bars to industry adulation from the likes of Stevie Wonder. His talent reached legendary producer Jerry Goldstein who believed Ike was the next Jimi Hendrix. In 1974 they cut "Changin Times": a soul and funk classic, inside the prison after extensive negotiation. In 2014, after months of searching director Dan Vernon flew to California to interview Ike and hear his incredible story: "It was as if he'd been waiting for us to find him". But 2 months later Ike killed himself, leaving behind an extraordinary mass of personal archive he'd given to Dan. In this compelling film Dan pieces together the many versions of Ike, finding a trail of wives, lives, and identities that leave the viewer with as many questions as answers.

Citizen K

Genre: Documentary
Director: Alex Gibney
Status: Completed

Synopsis: Oscar® winning writer/director Alex Gibney's revelatory Citizen K is an intimate yet sweeping look at post-Soviet Russia from the perspective of the enigmatic Mikhail Khodorkovsky, a former oligarch turned political dissident. Benefitting from the chaos that ensued after the dissolution of the U.S.S.R., Khodorkovsky was able to amass a fortune in financing and oil production and became the richest man in Russia. But when he accused the new Putin regime of corruption, Khodorkovsky was arrested, his assets were seized and following a series of show trials, he was sentenced to more than ten-years in prison. Today, as an exile living in London, he continues to speak out against Putin's two-decade stranglehold on power. Expertly researched and photographed, Gibney uses Khodorkovsky's story as a way to explore the complex interplay between oligarchy and government and its destructive effect on democracy, in Russia and beyond. A production by Passion Pictures / Jigsaw / Storyteller Productions.

Dau. Degeneration

Cast: Prof. Dmitry Kaledin, Vladimir Azhippo, Olga Shkabarnya, Prof. Alexei Blinov, Prof. Nikita Nekrasov, Rabbi Adin Steinsaltz
Genre: Drama
Director: Ilya Khrzhanovskiy
Status: Completed

Synopsis: The institute that this film is about existed twice. Once as the top-secret Institute for Physical Problems as part of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, which was in operation from 1938 to 1968, and a second time as the largest film set in Europe, which was destroyed at the end of the project. The DAU Institute in Kharkiv was an experiment designed by director Ilya Khrzhanovskiy in which leading mathematicians, artists, philosophers and mystics lived and worked between 2009 and 2011. Among other things, they explored the foundations and limits of intellectual understanding and human action, working towards the creation of a "new human being" and beyond, to the bloody end. DAU. Degeneratsia shows the institute in its cruel final phase. On his last legs, the protagonist DAU, a theoretical physicist like his role model Lev Landau, is obliged to look on as upheavals bring forth a steady stream of new institute directors. Vodka and sperm are flowing freely among both service and research staff. Meanwhile, the secret police is assisting in the rise of a nationalistic, reactionary squad of sporty young men who are ready to clean up the "pigsty".

Dau. Natasha

Cast: Natalia Berezhnaya, Olga Shkabarnya, Vladimir Azhippo, Alexei Blinov, Luc Bigé
Genre: Drama
Director: Ilya Khrzhanovskiy
Status: Completed

Synopsis: Natasha runs the canteen at a secret 1950s Soviet research institute. This is the beating heart of the DAU universe, everyone drops in here: the institute's employees, scientists and visiting foreign guests. Natasha's world is a small one, split between the demands of the canteen during the day and alcohol fuelled nights with her younger colleague Olga, during which the two confide their hopes of romance and for a different future. At a party one evening Natasha becomes close to a visiting French scientist Luc Bigé and the two sleep together. The following day her life takes a dramatic turn when she is summoned to an interrogation by the KGB's General Vladimir Azhippo who questions the nature of her relationship with the foreign guest. DAU. Natasha is the first feature from Ilya Khrzhanovsky's large-scale simulation of the totalitarian Soviet system. Created in collaboration with co-director Jekaterina Oertel, cinematographer Jürgen Jürges, and a cast of non-professionals. DAU. Natasha pushes the boundaries in this transgressive depiction of a life that would be completely normal if not for totalitarian use of power. A tale of violence that is as radical as it is provocative

A Dose Of Happiness

Cast: Valentina Karoleva, Dimitar Nikolov, Aleksandar Aleksiev,
Genre: True Story
Director: Yana Titova
Status: Completed

Synopsis: Vesela's search for happiness led her into an early marriage that went cold by the time she was 20. Breaking away from her husband, Vesela takes a job waiting tables at a night club, where she meets Ivan, twice her age, who takes her in with her 3 year old daughter Valya. One day the angelic Joro turns up in the club and takes Vesela into a bar back room for a smoke. She wakes up the next morning in withdrawal; and later learns her life is now all about heroin which brings her relationship with Ivan to the breaking point. Joro becomes Vesela's playmate and lover. Vesela's sister Bistra takes her to a quack doctor but the remedy fails and Vesela keeps using. When Ivan kicks her out, Vesela and Valya move in with Bistra and Vesela takes a job at a posh restaurant where she tries to keep her habit a secret. She meets Joro and get high in the woods behind the restaurant. One afternoon, with Joro, on a hill near the highway, Vesela suddenly finds herself alone....

Everything: The Real Thing Story

Cast: David Essex, Kim Wilde, Billy Ocean, Tony Hall, Jeff Wayne, Trevor Nelson
Genre: Documentary
Director: Simon Sheridan
Status: Completed
Synopsis: Britain in the 1970s was divided by racial tension. Then the other Fab Four from Liverpool's ghetto became the first black band to have a #1 hit. Their photos appeared on the bedroom walls of white, teenage girls and 'everything' changed. The press dubbed them 'The Black Beatles' - Eddy, Chris, Dave and Ray - four working-class boys from one of Liverpool's toughest neighbourhoods became Britain's most most-celebrated originators of soul, funk and disco. With a string of huge hits, they dominated the international charts throughout the 70s & 80s with iconic songs like 'You to Me Are Everything', 'Can't Get By Without You' & 'Can You Feel the Force'.

Fanny Lye Deliver'd

Cast: Maxime Peake, Charles Dance, Freddie Fox, Tanya Reynolds Genre: Historical
Director: Thomas Clay
Status: Completed
Synopsis: 1657. Fanny and John Lye and their young son Arthur live lives of Puritan stricture on a remote Shropshire farm in a valley beside a forest. Once a Captain in the English Civil War, now a firm believer in Oliver Cromwell's republic, John suffers a game leg and therefore it is Fanny who must carry out most duties around the farm, taken for granted by both husband and son. One morning, when the family are out at church, two uninvited visitors take refuge in their barn: the charismatic Thomas Ashbury and his young 'wife' Rebecca Henshaw, who come running from the forest naked as Adam and Eve. Thomas tells a story of robbery by vicious highwaymen. Although suspicious, John offers clothes and shelter for the night - which satisfies Fanny's compassionate nature. Whilst the young couple are polite, almost obsequious at first, soon Thomas' carefree manner can't help but reveal itself: he makes seductive eyes at Fanny and then draws Arthur into a food fight, for which - despite Thomas' protestations - the house patriarch disciplines both wife and child. The next day, as Thomas and John coppice wood, Rebecca accidentally reveals to Fanny that she and Thomas are unmarried. Soon after, three more strangers approach the farm: a Sheriff and his Deputy, accompanied by the local Constable, hunting members of a blasphemous 'Ranter' sect. From here, events quickly escalate in ways that will change all their lives forever.

I Love My Mum

Cast: Kierston Wareing, Tommy French
Genre: Comedy
Director: Alberto Sciamma
Status: Completed

Synopsis: Following a car crash Ron and Olga are bizarrely transported from their comfy world into an uncertain one -- from the safety of their living-room in England, into an alien world in North Africa and across Europe. Without money or documents and still in their pyjamas, they will need to put aside their mutual animosity and find a way back. Olga and her son Ron, both living in the portside town of Tilbury, manage to accidentally exile themselves from their own country over an argument about cheese. As if being stranded in Morocco without documents or money wasn't enough, they have to find a way to immigrate back home. With a relationship that is strained at the best of times, mother and son have to survive each other as well as a journey across the Mediterranean and European continent. As their absurd adventure unfolds, the two come face-to-face with their own insecurities. While the manipulative but uninhibited mother hides her vulnerabilities behind her crass and carefree manners, her juvenile son struggles between wanting his own independence and needing his mother's support.

The Informer (Working Title)

Genre: Documentary
Director: Trevor Birney
Status: Post-Production

Synopsis: There's a saying in the DEA: "Good informant, good case. Bad informant, bad case. No informant, no case." Lifting the lid on a deadly, secretive and increasingly unregulated practice, this timely feature documentary examines the growing dependence of US law enforcement on confidential informants and asks if the practice of using them is eroding American justice. The film highlights the secretive dynamics, systematic failings and deadly consequences of this clandestine practice, one which has quietly become a bedrock of law enforcement whilst claiming the lives of innocent Americans.

Max Richter's Sleep

Cast: Max Richter
Genre: Art - Culture
Director: Natalie Johns
Status: Completed

Synopsis: This film follows Max Richter as he consolidates the most ambitious performance of his critically acclaimed 8 houropus, Sleep. Centring around the open air concert in Los Angeles, as well as footage from Berlin, New York and Paris, we are plunged deep into the artist's life and process, transcending the work to explore his legacy. Directed by Emmy-nominated and award-winning South African filmmaker Natalie Johns, this ground-breaking visual portrait echoes the contemplative essence of Richter's work, offering a poetic depiction of the 'liminal state' audiences experience. Performances of Sleep require unprecedented endurance from musicians. Experiencing Sleep requires an open vulnerability from audiences; strangers drifting in and out of consciousness amongst hundreds of others. This story is a rare expression of a global community, unified. A film for these frenetic times; a meditative respite from the rush and chaos of the modern world, studying the universal experience of sleep that unites us all.

Synopsis: Three-time Academy Award® nominee Johnny Depp plays celebrated war photographer W. Eugene Smith in a real life David vs Goliath story, pitting Smith against a powerful corporation responsible for poisoning the people of Minamata, Japan in 1971. With the glory days of World War II far behind him, Smith has become a recluse, disconnected from society and his career. But an old friend and a commission from "Life" Magazine editor Ralph Graves, convince him to journey back to Japan to expose the devastating annihilation of a coastal community, victims of corporate greed and complicit local police and government. Armed with only his trusted Nikon camera, Smith must find the images that will bring this story to the World. At first, no one wants to help him and there's a new threat at every corner. But to finally stop hiding behind the lens and earn this broken community's trust may prove to be Smith's greatest challenge. MINAMATA is a moving redemptive story of how one man's powerful photograph impacted the world, yet in order to find it he had to open his heart.

My Father And Me

Genre: Documentary
Director: Nick Broomfield
Status: Completed
Synopsis: Nick Broomfield has often implicated himself in his filmmaking with honesty and candor, yet never has he made a movie more distinctly personal than this complex and moving film about his relationship with humanist-pacifist father, Maurice Broomfield. In October 2020 the V&A Museum will celebrate his factory worker father's vivid, often lustrous images of industrial post-WWII England, which inspired Nick's own filmmaking career, while notably outlining a marked difference in their outlook, with Nick's less romantic, more left-wing political identity stemming from his Jewish mother. A memoir and tribute, in its intimate story My Father and Me takes an expansive, philosophical look at the twentieth century.

A Night In '97

Cast: Roger Ringrose, Ryan Early
Genre: Thriller
Director: Sam Prudence
Status: Completed

Synopsis: During the frantic final days of Britain's crucial 1997 election, Labour party candidate for Scarborough and Whitby BERTIE OLDRCROSS (Roger Ringrose – The Witcher) is out campaigning hard with his trusty manager Simon. Bertie is a portly, passionate man, using his exceptional wit and local charm to ride the 'New Labour' wave to what the polls predict will be a certain victory. But as the pair drive to an 'end of campaign' party, Bertie accidentally runs over a local man in the darkness. Panic ensues as they face a personal dilemma. Reporting this accident on the eve of polling day would have career ending repercussions, jeopardise the Party's victory, and run the risk of prison; so, with Simon a reluctant participant, they embark on a farcical cover-up comedy of errors, in the hopes of securing their win and fulfilling their political ambitions. However, Simon faces a severe crisis of conscience and a conflict develops over the morality of their actions. This falling out threatens the potential exposure of their crimes. Unsure of Simon's loyalty, Bertie must anxiously continue to fulfil his duties as a candidate on polling day, not knowing if he will be found out. Only after the election results are announced, and Bertie is confirmed to have won, does Simon finally agree to keep their terrible actions of the previous night secret in order to secure their political success. But as the strain of the last 48 hrs builds, have Bertie's moral compromises become too much for him to bear?

Once Upon A Time In Venezuela

Genre: Documentary
Director: Anabel Rodriguez Rios
Status: Completed

Synopsis: Once upon a time, the Venezuelan village of Congo Mirador, floating on stilts just inches above the deep Lake Maracaibo, was prosperous, alive with fishermen and poets. In recent years, it has decayed and disintegrated, rotting beneath pollution and neglect—a small but prophetic reflection of Venezuela itself. At the center of the village's existential fight for survival stand two female leaders—Mrs. Tamara, the Chavista government coordinator of the village, and Natalie, a vocal teacher and opponent of Mrs. Tamara and her state-approved practices of bribery and intimidation. As the contentious national elections approach, fear within the community extends beyond the partisan divide of Venezuelan politics; the villagers' homes are quite literally vanishing into the sedimented water, displacing families with no means of surviving elsewhere.

Ouvertures

Cast: The Living And The Dead Ensemble
Genre: Social issues
Director: Louis Henderson
Status: Completed

Synopsis: Moving from the frozen landscapes of the Jura mountains to the urban centres of Port-au-Prince, Ouvertures brings the Haitian revolutionary Toussaint Louverture back to life. In France a Haitian researcher tries to read the past within the stratigraphic layers of Jurassic limestone, whilst in Haiti a group of young actors translate and rehearse scenes from Monsieur Toussaint, a play written by Édouard Glissant, that recounts the last days in the life of Louverture dying in exile in a prison cell in the Jura, 1803. Ghosts from the pantheon of Haitian history visit Louverture on his deathbed and put him to trial. As the play proceeds the actors become possessed by their characters, and eventually the ghost of Louverture joins the group and takes them on a voyage for a new kind of exile.

The Reason I Jump

Genre: Documentary
Director: Jerry Rothwell
Status: Completed

Synopsis: Based on the best-selling book by Naoki Higashida, THE REASON I JUMP is an immersive cinematic exploration of neurodiversity through the experiences of nonspeaking autistic people from around the world. The film blends Higashida's revelatory insights into autism, written when he was just 13, with intimate portraits of five remarkable young people. It opens a window for audiences into an intense and overwhelming, but often joyful, sensory universe. Moments in the lives of each of the characters are linked by the journey of a young Japanese boy through an epic landscape; narrated passages from Naoki's writing reflect on what his autism means to him and others, how his perception of the world differs, and why he acts in the way he does: the reason he jumps. The film distils these elements into a sensually rich tapestry that leads us to Naoki's core message: not being able to speak does not mean there is nothing to say.

The Roads Not Taken

Cast: Elle Fanning, Javier Bardem, Salma Hayek, Chris Rock, Laura Linney
Genre: Drama
Director: Sally Potter
Status: Completed

Synopsis: Acclaimed writer-director Sally Potter provides Academy Award® and Golden Globe-winning actor Javier Bardem with a role that showcases his unique versatility. He is joined by Academy Award® nominee Salma Hayek, three-time Academy Award® nominee Laura Linney and multi Emmy Award-winning comedian Chris Rock, for the film, a masterful and touching chronicle of a day in one man's life, and of the unconditional bond with his daughter, played by Elle Fanning. The film follows 24 hours in the life of father and daughter Leo (Bardem) and Molly (Fanning) as she grapples with the challenges of dealing with her father's chaotic mental state. But as they weave their way around New York City, their ordinary but stressful day takes on a hallucinatory and epic quality, for Leo is seamlessly flowing in and out of several parallel lives; a passionate marriage with his childhood sweetheart Dolores (Hayek) in Mexico; a struggling career as a drummer in Manhattan with his more successful lover, Adam (Rock); and a life of solitude on a remote Greek island, where a chance encounter with two young tourists unmasks the uncomfortable truths of a family life left behind... The film weaves a rich, cinematic tapestry as Leo's parallel lives – visible only to him - gradually unravel in moments of tragedy, happiness, regret and humour. It is only his daughter who gradually begins to understand his extraordinary secret.

Genre: Drama
Director: Sarah Gavron
Status: Completed

Synopsis: Rocks (15) is a teenage girl with big dreams for the future, loyal fun friends and an adoring, though mischievous, little brother Emmanuel (7). Rocks enjoys school (as much as any teenager does) and lives a full vibrant life in East London with her team of London-centric female best friends. Rocks' world is turned upside down when she returns from school to find her mum gone, having left some cash and a note offering little explanation except that she is sorry. Determined to stick with her brother and avoid being taken into care against all odds, Rocks leaves her home and hides in pockets of East London. As each day becomes tougher and her secret harder to hide, Rocks starts to push away those who love her and her friendship group begins to fracture. When the authorities finally catch up with her, there is really only one source of support for her to turn to: her friends. A film about the joy, resilience and spirit of girlhood.

Ronnie's

Genre: Documentary
Director: Oliver Murray
Status: Completed

Synopsis: The global musical legacy of Ronnie Scott and his famous jazz club are celebrated in this new feature documentary from filmmaker Oliver Murray (The Quiet One). Featuring evocative unseen archive, standout live performances and interviews with music industry legends including Quincy Jones and Sonny Rollins, the film shines a light on the world-famous club's 60 year history and the uncompromising people who made it into an institution. Revered tenor saxophonist Ronnie Scott founded the club in London's Soho with fellow musician and business partner Peter King. They were inspired by the vibrant post-war jazz venues they discovered on New York's 52nd Street. Since then, Ronnie Scott's Club has played host to the world's greatest jazz legends, including Chet Baker, Miles Davis, Ella Fitzgerald, Van Morrison, Buddy Rich and Nina Simone. The venue has also hosted superstars from other genres, including Jimmy Hendrix – his last performance before his death – and Lady Gaga. Ronnie was beloved by many, from the great and famous, to the many hard-up musicians he helped. Ronnie battled with depression and his untimely death in 1996 it left the jazz community bereft of a respected and leader, but his legacy lives on in the venue which remains firmly on the cutting edge.

The Sheriff

Director: Grace Sweeney
Status: Completed

Synopsis: The Sheriff is an iconic figure in American culture. All-powerful within their County, the Sheriff is running jails, arresting felons and keeping the peace. They uphold democracy, protecting people from the 'tyranny' of Federal politics. In many areas, the Sheriff is the highest law enforcement authority around. But what many people don't know is that the Sheriff is elected into Office, running under the banner of Democrat or Republican. The Sheriff follows the 2018 election races in two counties across two States, Maryland and North Carolina, as candidates seek to become the top law enforcement officer. Against the backdrop of the national midterm elections, hyper-polarised politics are playing out at the local level. Unsurprisingly, the Trump Presidency hovers in the background. Just 18 days after his inauguration, the President welcomed a delegation from the National Sheriffs' Association to the White House. Since then, the President - or 'Sheriff in Chief' - has kept up his relationship with the sheriffs and some of them have become vocal supporters of his immigration and border policies. All politics is personal and none more so than when it comes to electing the Sheriff. Big personalities, local issues and the Trump agenda will all play out. The race is on.

Synopsis: A love-story set in the timeless and enchanting world of Summerland; sun-dappled days spent outdoors by the sea over one achingly beautiful summer. Fiercely independent writer Alice (Gemma Arterton) secludes herself in her study: occupied by her work but also profoundly lonely, haunted by a love affair from her past. When spirited young Frank, an evacuee from the London Blitz, is dumped into her irritable care, his innocence and wonder awaken Alice's deeply buried emotions. Bravely embracing life's miraculous unpredictability, Alice learns that wounds may be healed, hope and second chances do exist, and any woman must defiantly be two things: who and what she wants. From Britain's strongest new voice, the Olivier Award winning breakthrough writer/director Jessica Swale, Summerland inspires our audience with daringly honest and contemporary themes – an intensely emotional journey of womanhood and self-discovery, love and friendship.

Synopsis: Returning to Scotland for the first time in years stirs up uneasy memories for Adam Snow (Douglas Henshall, Shetland, Outlander). He longs for the beautiful Alice (Louise Lombard, CSI: Crime Scene Investigation), wife of his client, and faces the realisation that he has barely been present for his fragile brother Hugo (Cal MacAnich, The Victim), who is suffering a mental breakdown. While visiting Alice, Adam develops a fascination for a formerly majestic mansion nearby, Raven's End. Seeing this as a chance to be closer to Alice, as well as to his brother, he decides to buy Raven's End and to finally put down roots. While working on the renovation and secretly planning a new life with Alice, Adam is plagued by haunting dreams, visions and visits from a ghostly child. Fearing he may be suffering from the same fate as his brother, Adam is determined to untangle the truth and excise the spirit from his life. But his coming to Raven's End has set in motion a chain of sinister events linked to his past and a painful secret to which Adam's family holds the key. An Awesome / Two Rivers Media production for Channel 5, the film is based on the novel The Small Hand: A Ghost Story by Susan Hill (The Woman in Black) and is written by Barbara Machin (Waking The Dead).

Synopsis: 1995. On the cusp of big things, Mark Linkous, the musician known as Sparklehorse was touring his critically acclaimed 1st album when tragedy struck. He collapsed in his hotel room, legs pinned underneath his body for hours. His heart stopped when paramedics tried to move him. He died for several minutes. After resuscitation, Linkous spent months in hospital, paralysed. This incident would cast a long shadow on the corridor of his life. This documentary chronicles his life and pays respectful tribute to an artist feverishly beloved by his cult followers. An artist far removed from the mainstream of music, his existence mirrored his mesmerising and unique music. Written and narrated by Linkous' friend and collaborator, Angela Faye Martin, the film paints a balanced portrait of an individual of immense talent and singular vision, charting his highs and lows with a poetry and hand-crafted aesthetic.

Synopsis: Detective Ryan Barnes has his world turned upside down when his wife ends up in a coma following a car accident. Spending his days visiting her and desperately hoping she'll recover, Ryan is pulled into a case involving a spate of deaths of old people suffering from dementia. As the bodies begin to pile up, Ryan suspects that the deaths aren't coincidental as they first appear and he believes they are the work of a serial killer. As he desperately searches for the killer, Barnes' doubts increase. Do the motives fit the killer he's chasing?

Synopsis: Following a raid gone bad, six armed robbers escape with the cash to an isolated safe house. Lucky to get out alive, all they need do is wait overnight for safe passage in the morning. But frayed nerves and recriminations abound among this band of disparate, distrustful criminals: BARKER (Struan Rodger) fresh out of prison, out of luck, and out of time. GORDON (Johann Myers) the washed-up boxer, drunk on violence. STOKER (Kirk Lake) a secretive pimp, procurer, and provocateur. EDDIE (Alex Wells) a young grifter, out of his depth on his first big job. And gang leader CARPENTER (Finbar Lynch) trying to keep it all together and deal with his fatally wounded right-hand man. Any one of them could have sold out the gang to the police. Tensions run high. A night can be a long time when there's no one to trust. One by one, the men begin to turn on each other, tormented by strange and malignant apparitions, haunted by their past violent crimes. Soon they start to lose their fragile grip on reality battling for their lives, unsure of what is real and what is the product of their tortured minds. Is it guilt or ghosts that finally push them over the edge? And who - or what - will remain when day finally breaks?
