47 Meters Down

Cast: Vanessa Kirby
Genre: Thriller
Director: Johannes Roberts
Status: Pre-Production

Synopsis: Twenty-something sisters Kate and Lisa are gorgeous, fun loving and ready for the holiday of a lifetime in Mexico. When the opportunity to go cage diving to view Great White sharks presents itself, thrill-seeking Kate jumps at the chance while Lisa takes some convincing. After some not so gentle persuading, Lisa finally agrees and the girls soon find themselves two hours off the coast of Huatulco and about to come face to face with nature's fiercest predator. But what should have been the trip to end all trips soon becomes a living nightmare when the shark cage breaks free from their boat, sinks and they find themselves trapped at the bottom of the ocean. With less than an hour of oxygen left in their tanks, they must somehow work out how to get back to the boat above them through 47 meters of shark-infested waters.

6 Desires: DH Lawrence And Sardinia

Genre: Documentary
Director: Mark Cousins
Status: Completed

Synopsis: In 1921, DH Lawrence and his wife Frieda von Richthofen journeyed to Sardinia, where they spent the winter travelling. He wrote a book about his experiences and now Mark Cousins retraces his footsteps, armed with a camcorder and an inexhaustible reserve of curiosity. The film is conceived partly as a letter to Lawrence - or 'Bert', as he calls him, a detail that's typical of the film's inviting sense of conversational intimacy. A lively chronicle of Cousins' own trip through Sardinia, the film is a bracing reflection on a dizzying range of subjects, including (but not exhausting) Lawrence's creative impulses, fascism, the island's Catholic rituals and the writings of such thinkers as Hélène Cixous and Antonio Gramsci.

The 9th Life Of Louis Drax

Cast: Jamie Dornan, Sarah Gadon, Aaron Paul, Oliver Platt, Barbara Hershey, Molly Parker
Genre: Thriller
Director: Alexandre Aja
Status: Post-Production

Synopsis: The story begins on Louis Drax's 9th birthday, when he miraculously survives a near fatal fall. His doctor Allan Pascal (Jamie Dornan) finds himself tangled between his professional responsibility and his growing affections for the boy's mother (Sarah Gadon), a fragile young beauty. When Louis' father (Aaron Paul) comes under suspicion, Pascal realizes other mysterious forces may be at work. With echoes of THE SIXTH SENSE & GONE GIRL, THE 9th LIFE OF LOUIS DRAX is a supernatural thriller filled with unexpected twists and turns.

Absolutely Anything

Cast: Simon Pegg, Kate Beckinsale, Robin Williams, Terry Gilliam, Terry Jones, John Cleese, Michael Palin, Eddie Izzard
Genre: Comedy
Director: Terry Jones
Status: Completed

Synopsis: Neil Clarke, a schoolteacher, suddenly discovers he has magical powers. In fact, with the wave of his hand, he can make absolutely anything happen. From wiping out a particularly disruptive class (and then bringing them - and anyone else who has ever died! - back to life), to turning his best mate into the kind of man women would not only die for, but would worship to the ends of the earth and back. The only snag is getting the words right and of course, knowing what he really wants. Mishap after mishap finally leads him to the ultimate conundrum that all men dread and at which many have failed; should he choose the girl or the dog...?

Amy

Cast: Amy Winehouse
Genre: Documentary
Director: Asif Kapadia
Status: Completed

Synopsis: AMY is the latest film from the multiple BAFTA-winning team behind the acclaimed Senna. This time, they explore the life of Amy Winehouse, five-time Grammy award-winner and arguably Britain's greatest female singer/songwriter of this millennium. Using never-before-seen archival footage, AMY will tell the story, in the megastar's own uncensored words and actions, of a tragic young woman from London who came of age in the public eye, whose genius and artistry propelled a celebrity she could never truly come to terms with.

Amy rose to international fame with her second album Back to Black, which has sold over 12 million copies worldwide (multiple times platinum in many countries) since its release in 2006. She was admired by many and performed with such varied artists as Tony Bennett, Prince, Mark Ronson and the Rolling Stones. She died tragically in 2011 of accidental alcohol poisoning, aged 27, joining the likes of Jimi Hendrix, Jim Morrison, Kurt Cobain and Janis Joplin in the infamous '27 Club'.

"This is an incredibly modern, emotional and relevant film that has the power to capture the zeitgeist and shine a light on the world we live in, in a way that very few films can," says director Asif Kapadia (Senna, The Warrior) and producer James Gay-Rees (Senna, Exit Through the Giftshop). "Amy was a once in a generation talent who captured our imagination in a way that not many musicians can; she wrote and sang from the heart and everyone fell under her spell. But tragically Amy seemed to gradually fall apart under the relentless pressure of her success, constant media attention, troubled relationships and precarious lifestyle. As a society we celebrated her huge success but then we were quick to judge her failings when it suited us."

Synopsis: A 3D film for all the family. "We will tell Orwell's classic tale as a vibrant engaging story for 21st Century families. Just imagine Orwell writing today... seeing the entire story from the point of view of an adorable knee-high piglet... A rite of passage for this once naïve, baby-face piglet Lucky, son of Napoleon, as he witnesses the rise and fall of a dream: a perfect existence without human beings. A modern commentary of the perils of corporate greed, but with all the innocence, joy and sensitivity of a fairy-tale. Just great fun, anarchic, contemporary, quick-witted and very funny ... but also fearful, whereby jeopardy is in the unseen implied violence; raucous, thrilling with big set pieces; but also subtle – with incisive subversion and satire; heartbreakingly honest, accepting of sadness and emotionally ebullient". Synopsis: When the brutalized body of an unknown woman is discovered in a small Virginia town, dreadful and unexplainable events begin to torment the owners of the morgue charged with doing the autopsy of Jane Doe. Soon pathologist Tommy Tilden (Brian Cox) and his son, Austin (Emilie Hirsch) discover evidence of torture techniques from the days of witch hunting. When they become trapped in the morgue by a vicious storm, the father and son are left to fight through the vengeful horrors suddenly transmitted from Jane Doe's body to theirs. From Andre Ovredal, the director of the cult favorite TROLL HUNTER, comes a supernatural thriller which unearths ancient evils from the 17th Century that reawaken in the 21st century with deadly consequences.

Synopsis: Ria wants out of this town and is trying to scrape enough money together to get her and her friend Kaz away to the coast. While Joseph wants out of this life as he struggles to come to terms with the death of his wife - he just wants the pain to end. Fate's about to step in and bring these two lost souls together. Haunted by his past, he comes to rescue Ria by saving her from a detestable drug dealer, Dex. Seeing Joseph as her knight in shining armor, Ria tags along with him to Blackpool - something Joseph views as more than a minor inconvenience. But as they spend time in each other's company, an unlikely friendship starts to blossom as both start to see in the other something that's been missing from their lives. Ria starts to get a sense of what it might have been like to have a father figure and, for the first time in a long time, Joseph starts to get a sense of optimism. This is a story of love, of loss, and of hope played out against the magical backdrop of Blackpool.

Synopsis: The Bolshoi. Symbol of Russia, a national treasure - mystical and intriguing. Recently, however, the theatre has been in the headlines for all the wrong reasons: intrigue, personal attacks and management changes have created lurid headlines. Now, for the first time, the theatre directors are allowing a film crew access backstage. They see the coming months as a new chapter, and are ready to allow the 2013 -14 season to be recorded as a unique cinematic experience. From the two-time Academy Award-winning Producer of MAN ON WIRE and SEARCHING FOR SUGARMAN, BOLSHOI BABYLON will give a voice to artistes and company members who are not usually in the limelight in irreverent and candid terms. Combining epic themes with intimate portraits, historical dramas will be counterpointed with the untold personal stories of agony and ecstasy that lie behind every acclaimed performance. With unparalleled behind the scenes access, the film will pay tribute to the dancers' extraordinary artistic and athletic talents, their abiding fear of injury and the ruthless ambition needed to survive in the world's most famous ballet company.

Genre: Comedy

Director: Vadim Jean

Status: Completed

Synopsis: Charles Bunbury (GRAMMER) is the bumbling, affable chairman of Tuftons, a historic bank based in London. Chairman more in name than in practice, Bunbury married into the position and spends most of his time on the golf course. But when a rogue trader leaves Tuftons skating on thin ice, Charles must transform himself from a Labrador of Liverpool Street into a wolf of Wall Street to save the company from rival American and Japanese banks. In a risky move, he ends up breaking the bank, losing both his wife and her family fortune in the process. At rock bottom, Charles's only hope of saving the bank and winning his wife back is a homeless, self-taught financial wizard and his estranged, anti-capitalist daughter. It's not much of a team, and they don't have much of a plan, so it's probably just as well that Charles doesn't understand how shorting and hedging might win him the day.

Synopsis: All Eilis has to look forward to if she stays in 1950s Ireland are slick-haired rugby players, selling cigarettes one at a time at the local shop, and bad weather. So when a kindly priest, Father Flood, sponsors her to go to America, she packs her meagre belongings, says goodbye to her mother and her sister, Rose, and hello to... Brooklyn, which with its bright lights, brownstones and brash confidence is a shock for timid Eilis. Seasickness from the treacherous journey to Ellis Island transforms into homesickness as she gets to Mrs. Kehoe's daunting lodging house, full of gossiping single girls. Eilis gets a job at a glamorous department store and through a sweet young plumber called Tony she has all kinds of new experiences: the Yankees, Coney Island, proper spaghetti sauce...and love. A tragedy in the family forces her to return to Ireland, but she marries Tony in secret before she goes. Once home, everyone is struck by Eilis' 'new world' sophistication. She finds comfort in the company of her old friends, and one new one: a young charmer called Jim, who encouraged by Eilis' mother, starts to woo her. Before long, Eilis must confront a terrible dilemma -- a heart-breaking choice between two men and two countries; between duty and true love.

Genre: Drama
Director: Todd Haynes
Status: Completed

Synopsis: Set in 1950s New York, two women from very different backgrounds find themselves in the throes of love in CAROL. As conventional norms of the time challenge their undeniable attraction, an honest story emerges to reveal the resilience of the heart in the face of change. A young woman in her 20s, Therese Belivet (Rooney Mara), is a clerk working in a Manhattan department store and dreaming of a more fulfilling life when she meets Carol (Cate Blanchett), an alluring woman trapped in a loveless, convenient marriage. As an immediate connection sparks between them, the innocence of their first encounter dims and their connection deepens. While Carol breaks free from the confines of marriage, her husband (Kyle Chandler) threatens her competence as a mother when Carol's involvement with Therese and close relationship with her best friend Abby (Sarah Paulson) comes to light. As Carol leaves the comfort of home to travel with Therese, an internal journey of self-discovery coincides with her new sense of space.

Cooking With Fernet Branca

Genre: Romance
Director: Bruce Beresford
Status: Pre-Production

Synopsis: A romantic comedy of errors that plays on the distorted views and misperceptions men and women have of one another. GERALD and MARTA, our mischievous, sharp-witted, mettlesome protagonists, happen to be renting adjacent villas in a small hillside town in Tuscany. Through a series of hilarious misunderstandings involving a motley cast of criminals, rock stars, and film directors, he starts to think she's a sex-crazed peasant woman from Eastern Europe, while she's convinced he's just a pompous, nitwitted Englishman. But underneath their mutual insults and condescending attitudes is a genuine attraction. They are, as it turns out, just two shy hermits trying to flirt. And in a sweetly ironic twist, it is the same bitter and foul-tasting liquor they both wickedly use to repel each other that winds up bringing them together in the end. A hilarious, wacky and wild British 'battle of the sexes' comedy.

Synopsis: Of the many mysteries swirling around Cuba, there's one that has captured the imagination of cubaphiles, auto-enthusiasts, and dreamers: What happened to Ernest Hemingway's car? Exactly fifty years after the Nobel-prize-winning author departed Cuba - his home for 22 years - his long-lost 1955 Chrysler New Yorker convertible has finally been found, derelict and near to ruin. Cuba's vast repository of classic American automobiles is synonymous with the surreal and sensual nation, and Hemingway's much sought-after vehicle is potentially the most valuable and important of them all. The story is a fascinating insight into contemporary Cuba - an irresistible yet much-misunderstood Communist island of eccentricity, eroticism, and enigma, in which Hemingway is considered a national treasure and baseball is the national sport... serving alongside the beloved Detroit classics - from creaky Cadillac taxis to Chevrolet Impalas with fins sharp enough to draw blood - as ambassadors of an abiding affection that still binds the two nations together.

Synopsis: ELECTRICITY is an astonishing journey seen through the eyes of a young woman whose epilepsy brings extraordinary hallucinations as she searches for her lost brother. Lilly O'Connor (Deyn) - brash, sexy, witty - lives on the Northeast coast away from the world and her past. But when her mother dies, the past draws Lily back in. When she discovers that her younger brother Mikey (Cooke), the only one who looked after her when they were kids, disappeared to London years ago, she resolves to try and find him. But the search could kill her. Lily's epilepsy brings vivid visual distortions, strange auras and terrifying visions that we experience through her eyes. ELECTRICITY takes us on a journey that brings Lily to the brink of death before triumph in a beautiful and uplifting story of self-discovery and the human spirit. Based on the novel by Ray Robinson that the Guardian called "a breath-taking assault on the senses", ELECTRICITY combines passionate drama with stunning special effects in a powerfully uplifting love story with a fearless breakthrough performance by AGYNESS DEYN. The cast of leading British talent includes CHRISTIAN COOKE (Cemetery Junction). PAUL ANDERSON (Heart of the Sea), ALICE LOWE (Sightseers), LENORA CRITCHLOW and TOM GEORGESON (Notes on a Scandal). Directed by BAFTA-Nominee Bryn Higgins, adapted by BAFTA-winning writer Joe Fisher and with a stunning score by BAFTA-winner John Lunn, ELECTRICITY is a Stone City Films production.

Elstree 1976

Genre: Documentary
Director: Jon Spira
Status: Post-Production

Synopsis: In 1976, during the hottest summer on record, Star Wars was shot in suburban North London. Nobody involved had any idea how big the film would become, many couldn't even remember the title. Yet, for the extras and actors in smaller roles, their faces hidden in masks and helmets, this seemingly insignificant job would go on to colour their lives even four decades later.

The Emperor's New Clothes

Cast: Russell Brand
Genre: Documentary
Director: Michael Winterbottom
Status: Completed

Synopsis: Fairytale, allegorical 1. Collective ignorance of an obvious fact, or deception, despite undeniable evidence. World-famous British comedian and activist Russell Brand joins forces with acclaimed director Michael Winterbottom on a polemical documentary about the financial crisis and gross inequality we currently face. Starting with the genesis of today's economic policies, with the arrival of Milton Friedman's school of thought in Reagan's leadership and Thatcher's UK, the film explores how these policies have come to dominate the western world. The rich have got richer; where a CEO of a major British company used to earn 10 times the average wage of his workers, now they earn 200 times. According to Oxfam, the richest 80 people in the world own as much as the poorest 3.5 billion. It would now take 300 years for the average cleaner, cleaning the offices of his senior boss, to earn the same salary taken home by the same boss last year. Milton Friedman once said that every crisis was an opportunity. The financial crisis of 2008 should have been a chance to reform the system for the benefit of everyone. But instead, austerity for everyone throughout Britain and Europe was the price to be paid for supporting the financial sector, with £131 billion spent by UK tax payers to keep the financial system afloat, while $30 trillion in support and subsidies went to Wall Street in the US. Using a mixture of documentary, interviews, archive footage and comedy, Russell Brand takes us from his hometown Grays in Essex, to the heart of London 'City' and on to the Big Apple. This daring film will shake up the world by revealing the bewildering truth about how the people at the bottom are paying for the luxuries of those at the top. Things can change...things do change.

Emulsion

Cast: Sam Heughan, Claudia Bassols, Lex Shrapnel, David Ajala
Genre: Thriller
Director: Suki Singh
Status: Completed

Synopsis: Emulsion is a Psychological Noir about a man looking for his missing wife, set on the south coast of England. When ISABELLA mysteriously disappears from a car park her husband, RONNY, becomes obsessed with finding her. In an attempt to stay close to her he even takes a job at the very same car park. It becomes his life. We join the story a year after the key events. Ronny lives alone in a dirty old apartment. He watches the same film on a projector every night. This is a nostalgic reel of 16mm film; memories of Isabella. Every morning Ronny packs his bags everyday to move on with his life, but he always slams on his brakes as he approaches a picturesque bridge on the edge of town, the place where he proposed to Isabella. Everyday he returns to the car park to continue his quest. Every night Ronny stands in the very spot Isabella went missing from and tries to retrace his own movements and recap on any clues. One night a prostitute is attacked in the car park and bundled into the boot.

Synopsis: After her mother's suicide, Helen goes to Varanasi to deliver a letter to her mother's twin sister Agatha, who runs a missionary for low caste orphan children. When Helen and Agatha meet, it's the first time Agatha's seen the daughter she left behind in London 25 years earlier. Helen still blames herself for her mother's suicide, who killed herself after learning her husband raped Helen as a child, a child Agatha had entrusted her to protect. On arrival in Varanasi, Helen learns of a serial killing spree that's claimed the lives of four low caste girls, all burnt to death in and around city of fires. The killer, Kasi, guided by a reclusive aghori priest Nana, seeks to claim the lives of seven girls to free himself and his loved one Savitri from the cycle of life and death and attain moksha. Helen crosses paths with Nana in the forest where he lives next to an old cremation site. Nana senses her guilt and helps Helen free herself from her pain of her mother's suicide. Arjun Das, a CBI officer from New Delhi is sent to Varanasi to find the killer. For Arjun it's a return to his home and a city he left behind. As the Hindu festival of fire and colour 'Holi' approaches Kasi prepares to claim the greatest sacrifice, Helen, and seeks deliverance from Nana, who must prove he is a true aghori, detached from everything. Feast of Varanasi is a taut thriller, which matches a sense of place and narrative to deliver an original and beauty film unlike any other made in India.

Future Shock The Story Of 2000AD

Cast: Neil Gaiman, Grant Morrison, Pat Mills, Alex Garland
Genre: Documentary
Director: Paul Goodwin
Status: Completed

Synopsis: FUTURE SHOCK! tells the story of 2000AD, a UK science fiction comics anthology that came to change the face of the industry. First published in 1977 to cash in on the success of STAR WARS, 2000AD proved wildly popular with readers, but quickly forged its own distinct identity light years away from the clear-cut heroes and villains of George Lucas' space operatics. The comic was violent, edgy, anti-authoritarian, blackly funny and above all, idiosyncratically British. Not only did it introduce seminal creators such as Alan Moore and Grant Morrison, but it also had a profound influence on pop culture at large, with such cult cinema hits as ROBOCOP and HARDWARE paying overt homage to it soon after its initial publication. The comprehensive documentary account of how the comic came to be, how it survived for 36 years, and how it continues to be an innovator and game-changer, FUTURE SHOCK! offers an illuminating overview of the magazine's history. It's a warts-and-all look at the various highs and lows, a peek inside the creative process of some of its most notable creators, and a funny, moving and passionate chronicle of how a disparate band of talented eccentrics came together to create something both visionary and extraordinary. Featuring interviews with legendary fan favorites such as Neil Gaiman and Grant Morrison, plus dynamic visual sequences that pay tribute to the groundbreaking artwork published in the comic throughout the years, this is the exhaustive final word on 2000AD. The scrappy upstart that is all too often overlooked amongst the constant waves of Marvel/DC corporate hype, 2000AD is more vital than either of them - independent, cutting edge and still punk after all these years. FUTURE SHOCK! aims to finally give the comic its due.

Garnet's Gold

Genre: Documentary
Director: Ed Perkins
Status: Completed

Synopsis: Twenty years ago Garnet Frost escaped London and headed into the desolate Scottish wilderness. Setting off without a map, disaster struck. Garnet found himself trapped between a mountain and the mysterious Loch Arkaig. Lost, cold and alone, he resigned himself to die. But Garnet didn't die. By sheer chance, he was saved by a lone fisherman. For the past two decades, Garnet has been haunted by a memento from his doomed trip. He believes an unusual wooden staff he found while waiting to die is actually a marker for one of history's most famous lost treasures - a spectacular fortune once owned by Bonnie Prince Charlie and lost since 1746. Now, two decades after the trip which almost killed him, Garnet is ready to return to the mysterious loch in his quest to find the gold. What Garnet finds up there, amidst the towering landscape, changes his life forever. Garnet's Gold is more than a fascinating historical insight into a lost treasure. This is a journey into the mind of a man searching for meaning. A search with which we can all empathise. This is a film about dreams, inspiration and the resonating power of hope. This is a film about all of us.

Synopsis: Bilbao, April 1937. Henry is an American correspondent. Famous for his talent and a commitment to the truth that blazed in him years ago, he has become a boozy and cynical opportunist obsessed only with his newspaper image and what is left of his fading fame. While delivering his last column and preparing to leave the Basque front to return to the fleshpots of Madrid, Henry encounters a fiery censor of the international press office of the Republican front. Teresa is a young idealist who has read and admired Henry's earlier work, but now she strongly criticizes his latest story because she considers it inaccurate, self serving, and even cowardly. Challenged by her spirit, and smitten with her beauty, Henry decides to stay and, with Teresa's help, tell the story of what is happening in Spain, a prelude to love and war, in a world that is quickly collapsing around the lovers. The odds are stacked against them. The jealous head of the Censorship Bureau loves Teresa too and there's a war on the way.

Synopsis: The Great British Mortgage Swindle is a powerfully compelling shockumentary film about banking crimes, the arrogant complicity of the legal professions and her majesty's judiciary; and five pioneering lay litigants, who have spent the last six years fighting for justice in just about every one of her majesty's courts, more often than not at the traumatic cost of having their castles stolen by licensed pirates, brandishing lethal weapons, battering rams and void court orders at dawn. Partly shot on HD mobile video, the film features several deeply harrowing and profoundly emotive, unlawful and violent evictions by county court bailiffs and high court enforcement officers; aided and abetted by members of her majesty's constabulary, the blindly deluded conveyancing industry and a plethora of bewigged sophists, who continue to preside in her majesty's miscarriage of justice system. The Great British Mortgage Swindle stands as a damning cultural indictment of the sheer scale and state-sanctioned brutality of the institutionalised mortgage fraud running rampant on the shores of Britain and has already been described as perhaps the most establishment British film of the 21st century; a film which simply cannot be ignored.

Synopsis: London, 1975. A slick apartment tower rises above the Thames, the beginnings of what will soon become the world's biggest financial hub. Dominating the landscape, it is simply called the HIGH-RISE... its address a mark of exclusivity. Its newest resident is Robert Laing, an ambitious young doctor utterly seduced by the lifestyle and cutting-edge technology the high-rise has to offer. Laing meets Wilder, a charismatic provocateur who introduces him to the seedy underbelly of the high-rise. The cracks in this apparently flawless society grow rapidly, and Laing is shocked at the depravity he sees. Life in the high-rise quickly descends into madness and violence, and Laing finds himself amongst the marauding hordes of bloodthirsty tenants who take over the building, floor by floor.

Synopsis: Hockney is the definitive exploration of one of the most important artists of his generation. For the first time, David Hockney has given unprecedented access to his personal archive of photographs and films, resulting in a frank and unparalleled visual diary of his long life. Acclaimed filmmaker Randall Wright offers a unique view of this unconventional artist who is now reaching new peaks of popularity worldwide. As charismatic as ever, at 77 years old he is still working in the studio seven days a week. "It's been said that there was something of the holiday about David Hockney, that, despite personal loss, he sees the world with holiday eyes, as if for the first time. I wanted to capture this attitude without taking away the mystery and magic of a great artist."

Synopsis: Joe, a young ticket-collector, is riding the last train out of London on a dark and stormy night along with a meager bunch of passengers. When the train brakes violently and comes to a sudden halt deep in the middle of a forest, it seems they have hit something on the line. But when the driver ventures out to investigate he never returns, leaving the passengers in a state of panic - particularly when Joe sees the driver's mutilated body outside the carriage. Realising there's something dangerous lurking in the forest, Joe tells the passengers to make barricades to secure themselves in the carriage but soon the deadly creature is stalking the besieged train and smashing through their defences, picking them off one-by-one. Joe rallies his 'pack' of passengers to fight back. During a vicious battle they manage to kill the creature, revealing it to be a hideous mutated fusion of human and wild animal - a werewolf. However, celebrations are cut short when they hear more howls coming from the forest...

Hustlers Convention

Cast: Jalaluddin Jalal Mansur Nuriddin, Chuck D, Krs One,
Fab 5 Freddy, Melle Mel
Genre: Documentary
Director: Mike Todd
Status: Completed

Synopsis: Hailed by Grandmaster Flash and Chuck D, sampled by the Beastie Boys, Wu Tang Clan, and Nas, Hustlers Convention was the foundation for today's hip-hop scene. This film tells of one of music's buried masterpieces: the missing link between soul power and hip hop, which gave its creator the right to claim his title as the 'grandfather of rap'. Released in 1973 by original member of The Last Poets, Jalal Mansur Nuriddin, this documentary tells the story of two young hustlers who attend the eponymous convention, only to get tangled up in a shootout and police chase. It is also a tale within a tale of culture and identity, of ambition and greed. It gave the streets a voice, was recited in neighbourhoods word for word and still resonates with meaning today. With original interviews including Jalal Nuriddin aka Lightnin' Rod, Ice T, KRS One, Chuck D, MC Lyte & Melle Mel, Hustlers Convention explores the forgotten roots of rap, and takes a closer look at how the album changed the face of music.

Synopsis: The drivers line up on the grid; engines that have taken a year of patient invention and testing are revving to red. In the pit lanes stand mechanics, eyes focused on TV monitors, crossing their hearts that the cars will hold out. Team managers shout last instructions into head-sets. In the stands are fans and family; wives and girlfriends offer up a prayer for victory, but above all for the safety of their men. Time freezes for a moment. Then, the light goes green... and THEY ARE OFF! The lead drivers in the top class of Endurance car, head at break-neck speed towards the first corner of the Le Mans 24 hour race; the most grueling and celebrated global motor racing event. This is a place where dreams are made, and broken. It is a place of almost religious intensity for the drivers, engineers, marshalls and tens of thousands of spectators that are here to witness the 91st edition of the most glorious of all races. Shot in blistering state-of-the art 3-D, this film tells the story of this race and of the men who compete in it. For 24 hours, and also in the months and weeks leading up to the race, we'll get to know what makes these men tick and what gives them the sheer guts to race the 24 hours of Le Mans.

Looking For Light: Jane Bown

Genre: Art - Culture
Director: Michael Whyte, Luke Dodd
Status: Completed

Synopsis: A revealing portrait of this most self-effacing but great portrait photographer emerges through conversation, anecdote and candid reflection. In the almost six decades that Jane Bown (b 1925) worked for the Observer newspaper, she became renowned for insightful, highly individualistic portraits of the famous. Some of these portraits are now regarded as classics of the genre - Samuel Beckett, Queen Elizabeth, the Beatles, Bertrand Russell, Mick Jagger, Margaret Thatcher, etc. Bown's great mantra is, 'photographers should neither be seen nor heard'. Diminutive in stature and with an all-important ability to blend into the background, Bown was the antithesis of the Fleet Street, macho photojournalist. This feature documentary is a beautiful portrait of both Jane Bown, her determination to succeed in an almost exclusively male world, and her process of working as a photographer. It includes interviews with Rankin, Nobby Clark and Don McCullin and her many iconic photographs of the great and the good (and a few bad) of the twentieth and twenty first centuries.

Synopsis: The film - with dramatic new testimony and evidence - tells the terrible narrative of the last 138 days of this awful war. Just five years ago, in January 2009, the government of Sri Lanka launched its final offensive against the secessionist rebels, the Liberation Tigers of Tamil Eelam, better known as the Tamil Tigers. Two weeks into the assault the government declared the first "No Fire Zone" and encouraged between 300,000 and 400,000 Tamil civilians to gather there, for their own safety. The government then launched a deadly, sustained and deliberate shelling campaign on this and subsequent zones. The story of what happened next is told in vivid detail by our central characters. The suffering of the trapped civilians was terrible - and recorded on a day to day basis on small cameras and mobile phones. Makeshift hospitals set up in abandoned schools were targeted and civilians denied adequate food and medicine by the government. The agony of the trapped civilians was compounded by the Tigers who refused to let them leave - and shot some who tried. One UN report estimated that as many as 40,000 died in just a few weeks. A more recent UN report suggested the death toll could reach 70,000 or even more. The government believed they would get away with this because they had excluded international witnesses from the war zone. But there were witnesses: The people who were trapped there. Their extraordinary testimony and incredible footage is at the heart of this film, and has been carefully and meticulously assembled to create a terrifying and compelling account. Then in the final days of the war another terrifying series of atrocities and war crimes were committed by Sri Lankan soldiers against captured fighters. Crimes of torture, execution and sexual violence - all filmed as grotesque war trophies by the perpetrators themselves. This unique television film brings together the latest evidence to emerge from these terrible days. And then it brings to story up to date describing how - in this apparently idyllic holiday island - the repression of the Tamils, the suppression of any government critics, the disappearances and the violence continues.

The Rise Of The Krays

Genre: Crime

Director: Zackary Adler

Status: Post-Production

Synopsis: Twin brothers Ronald "Ronnie" Kray and Reginald "Reggie" Kray were English gangsters who were the foremost perpetrators of organised crime in the East End of London during the 50s and 60s. With their gang, "The Firm", the Krays were involved in armed robberies, arson, protection rackets, assaults, and numerous murders. As West End nightclub owners, they mixed with prominent entertainers including Diana Dors, Frank Sinatra, Judy Garland and with many politicians. The Krays were much feared within their milieu, and in the 60s became celebrities in their own right, even being photographed by David Bailey and interviewed on television. THE RISE OF THE KRAYS tracks their early years in a frightening tale of how two unknown 18 year old amateur boxers quickly fought their way to becoming the most feared and respected villains in all of London. Told through the eyes of a close friend that survived them, we see them rise to infamy through drugs, sex and murder. Their name became synonymous with crime in the UK and still resonates today.

Synopsis: Jack, a handsome young Englishman, is stranded in rural France after his bags are stolen. As he attempts to hitchhike towards Calais, he struggles to communicate with the people he encounters. Warned of the 'road killer', a serial killer that dumps his victims on the roadside, Jack begins fearing the surrounding dangers. Feeling more vulnerable and foreign than ever, he never expected a place so close to home could feel so unknown to him. Jack's luck changes for the better however when he meets a beautiful French girl called Véronique. They decide to stick together to keep each other company and over the course of a night spent around a campfire in the woods, an innocent romance begins to blossom between them. They finally catch a ride with Monsieur Grizard, a quirky middle-aged Frenchman, who offers to drive them to Calais, despite it being out of his way. Though the weather soon changes for the worse and he suggests they stay the night at his house, where his English wife will cook them a roast dinner. Jack and Véronique reluctantly agree and find themselves warmly welcomed into the local couple's home. After a tense and peculiar dinner, they discover a ferry strike means they may be stuck with the couple longer than anticipated, and over the course of the evening they find themselves becoming inexplicably entangled in their lives. The bond between Jack and Véronique strengthens as they passionately make love that evening. After all his troubles, Jack feels as if his life finally seems to be making a beautiful and positive change for the better. This feeling is short lived, however, when he wakes the following morning to discover that Véronique has vanished. M. Grizard informs him that she left earlier in the morning and sent her best wishes with his onward journey. He also apologises to Jack for his plans must change, and he can no longer ride him to Calais. Baffled by Véronique's unexpected disappearance, Jack's heightened suspicions over the couple's motives for helping them intensify when he is kidnapped by Delacroix, the local 'road kill collector', a seemingly vicious man that makes Jack realise everyone is a suspect. It becomes clear that the Grizards are holding Véronique captive though their intentions for doing so are mysteriously unclear. Jack finds his only option is to attempt breaking free from the grasps of the vicious local, holding on to the hope that he will be able to find Véronique unscathed, and to escape the Grizard residence and the enigmatic countryside before something terrible unravels wildly out of his control.

SAS: Red Notice

Cast: Luke Evans
Genre: Thriller
Director: Nick Love
Status: Pre-Production

Synopsis: Deep beneath the English Channel a small army of well-trained war criminals, led by Laszlo Antonov, have seized control of the Eurostar, taking four hundred hostages at gunpoint. Their plan: to blow up the Channel Tunnel and declare economic war on a government that has its own fair share of secrets to keep. One man stands in their way - SAS operator Tom Buckingham is hiding somewhere inside the train. Alone and injured, he's the only chance the passengers have to get out alive. Among them is the woman he loves, Dr. Delphine Prideux, who is returning to Paris to tell her parents that she's pregnant. Trying to save everything that he holds dear, including his strained relationship, Tom unleashes a whirlwind of retribution and intrigue in his attempt to stop Laszlo and the other war criminals. Based on the best selling novel by Andy McNab, the film hurtles at breakneck speed from the SAS' assault on Laszlo's safe house to Whitehall's corridors of power to the heart of the Channel Tunnel. The film will employ SAS veteran Andy McNab and his vast combat experience and unique perspective on high-stakes crisis resolution to deliver the most intense and authentic SAS action thriller ever seen. With Nick Love at the helm of a movie he was born to direct and compelling star Luke Evans embodying an iconic and universal role, SAS: RED NOTICE has that rare combination of grounded action and deeply human entertainment.

Synopsis: Frank McAllister lives for the CHASE, the BUZZ, the ADRENALINE RUSH of 'the job'. You could say he deals in money. Lots of it. But he is no bank clerk or accountant, he is a career criminal and he is about to embark on the job of his life. Doyle used to be the same and Frank was his mentor, but recently he has been keeping a low profile. His security business affords him a comfortable living and keeps the 'po po' away. But however much he thinks he has convinced himself otherwise, the itch is still there and when Frank calls his Right Hand Man about his final, massive heist, well, he just can't resist. So Doyle finds himself in a back room bar in Berlin, which Frank and the rest of the crew Graham, Nico, Matthias and new boy Gareth - a familiar band of brothers. Their plan? To steal a lot of money from Klaus Schroeder, an ex Stasi banker who 'looks after' inappropriately gained funds for villains and politicians. This isn't just a job for the boys. Whilst the crew set up, Katja, Madelaine and Lea, three tough, strong, independent women, fuel the escalating action. Frank's planning for the heist has been carried out with military precision. So why do they execute a brilliant underwater break in and then walk away, leaving the cash in the open vault? And why does Frank - usually so on the ball - not spot the double cross? This should be the perfect crime. Turns out though, that nothing in life is ever as perfect as it seems.

Genre: Thriller
Director: John Shackleton
Status: Completed

Synopsis: When feisty teenage call girl Blue is dispatched to a run-down Regency town house in the seaside resort of Brighton, she is surprised to discover her new client is a good looking young man, Bill, who is renovating the abandoned Victorian brothel. Among the artifacts left behind is an antique penny arcade Mutoscope. Dropping an old penny in the slot, Blue is intrigued to see a Victorian sex scene played out for the camera between a sinister masked man and two young girls. After Bill fails to perform in the bedroom, Blue discovers a two-way mirror and a hidden room that she and Bill pry open. Entering the Sleeping Room, where the girls rested between clients, Blue finds herself drawn to the faces in one particular faded photograph and a disturbing presence unnerves them both. Blue's violent pimp Freddie and partner Cynthia know full well about the old brothel and perverted Frisky Fiskin who's extreme sexual tastes included family members and sadistic acts. Many girls disappeared and there were rumors Fiskin held moving picture parties for Victorian society depicting their murders. Delving into the archives to find out more about Frisky Fiskin and the disappeared girls, Blue learns of a disturbing connection between Fiskin and her own mother who had inexplicably murdered her elderly parents before killing herself when Blue was a child. Determined to reveal its secrets, Blue returns to the brothel and Bill only to discover herself trapped with the past returning to life and Frisky Fiskin once again on the hunt for a young prey to satisfy his depraved needs.

Synopsis: Fiercely independent SBS agent Stratton is a good soldier - to a fault. Part of a special service team deployed in Kazakhstan on the tail of international terrorists, Gandapur and Pinskov, Stratton risks life, limb and even national security to do what he thinks is right. Fighting with him is Aggy, his on-again-off-again love interest, a tomboy desperate to prove herself as a soldier and break through Stratton's emotional armour to the good man she can see underneath. Hamdi is alongside them - a second-generation migrant and good friend of Aggy's, he has a charm and poise quite different to Stratton's straightforward soldiering. This very British team is joined by Hank, a young US navy Seal also looking to prove himself on the front line. Their hunt for the enemy brings them unexpectedly deep into the heart of Europe and ever closer to home. In Rome they follow hot on the heels of Italian criminal Bascanti, a man who turns out to be at the centre of international terrorism, masterminding a terrorist attack on London. When Stratton is captured by Bascanti's henchmen he uncovers a mole within his team and his already chaotic reality is thrown even further into turmoil. With the enemy lurking around every corner, time is running out for Stratton. Who can he trust? Is it already too late?

Synopsis: SUFFRAGETTE is a thrilling drama that tracks the story of the foot soldiers of the early feminist movement, women who were forced underground to pursue a dangerous game of cat and mouse with an increasingly brutal State. These women were not primarily from the genteel educated classes, they were working women who had seen peaceful protest achieve nothing. Radicalized and turning to violence as the only route to change, they were willing to lose everything in their fight for equality - their jobs, their homes, their children and their lives. MAUD was one such foot soldier. The story of her fight for dignity is as gripping and visceral as any thriller, it is also heart-breaking and inspirational.

Synopsis: A time of starvation. The Survivalist lives off a small plot of land hidden deep in forest, protecting his crop from intruders with his shotgun and improvised traps. But the long years alone have taken their toll on him, and he is beginning to lose his grip on reality. Everything changes when a starving woman and her teenage daughter discover the farm. Desperate for food and board, the mother offers up her daughter to spend the night with him in return for bed and board. Overcome with desire, Survivalist breaks his strict code of self-preservation and accepts them into his cabin. As the exchange becomes an uneasy ongoing arrangement, the women plot to get rid off Survivalist and have the farm for themselves.

Synopsis: If we knew a meteor was destined to strike the Earth by 2050, wouldn't we try to stop it? By the end of this century the human population is likely to be over ten billion. Just twenty five years ago it was less than five billion. How are the choices we're making as a species impacting upon our environment? How will the sheer force of numbers affect the way we live in the future?

Esteemed director Peter Webber (Girl With A Pearl Earring) and renowned scientist Stephen Emmott (Professor and Head of Computational Science at Microsoft Research in Cambridge) deliver a timely and urgent message, highlighting key issues in the most important discussion of our environment today. What happens next, is up to us...

Synopsis: Charlie and James are in love. They're just starting out their lives together with no responsibilities when Charlie discovers she is pregnant. In a moment of youthful abandon they decide to keep the baby. Into their world comes Thea - a beautiful little girl, a goddess, the perfect addition to their newly-formed family. But it soon becomes clear that her arrival has brought with it things that are beyond their understanding. Thea is a bright shining beacon who is attracting the supernatural entities that exist all around towards her - and into their lives. Reluctantly, they enlist the help of James' estranged father, Alastair, a dilapidated amateur spiritualist. Charlie and James begin to realise they must dedicate themselves to keeping their daughter safe. As Thea grows into a young girl, the once playful entities that crowd around her become increasingly violent, vying for her attention and threatening her innocence. With Alastair out of his depth, he turns to Elizabeth, an occult practitioner of great power who teaches Thea to control, rather than be afraid of, the dark forces around her. But Charlie sees her daughter is changing; Thea's newfound confidence unleashes something far more malevolent and terrifying than they have ever encountered.

Synopsis: One fateful night, troubled teenager Kelly sneaks into her boyfriend Mark's house to deliver some sobering news: she's pregnant. With the skills she's learnt as a gymnast, Kelly deftly creeps across the garden and clammers up the drainpipes without waking his disapproving parents. But tonight, she's not the only unwelcome visitor: an armed gang breaks in. Mark's father Doug manages a bank and the gang plan on using Doug's help to carry out a daring heist using his captive family as leverage. Their plan quickly unravels when during the ensuing struggle, the gang's leader Shane gets injured and is left on Mark's bed fading in and out of consciousness. Unbeknownst to the intruders, a terrified and vulnerable Kelly is only inches away under the very same bed. From her cramped hiding position, Kelly overhears everything and now knows too much, putting her life in terrible danger if she's ever discovered. But she can't hide forever. As tensions escalate, Shane's psychopath of a brother Callum plans to burn down the house to destroy any DNA evidence. Now Kelly must draw on all her reserves of strength and her skills of dexterity to escape. As the situation spirals out of control, the suburban house becomes a terrifying arena for violence. Faced with no alternative she must turn and fight back.

Synopsis: WAR BOOK takes place over three days as nine civil servants gather in a government building to take part in a policy shaping scenario. They are there to take decisions on Britain's reaction to an international nuclear attack. At first the participants are casual, playing out the scenario against a backdrop of their own petty squabbles and personal ambitions. Only two participants know the truth - that the country is secretly facing a real nuclear threat, and that their theoretical responses may become reality sooner than they can know. As the scenario escalates and the group begins to address the breakdown of civil order, the reality that they are deciding our futures dawns. When personal politics crash irrevocably into the room, each is forced to look closely at what they really believe, and how much their decisions are actually worth.

War Of Words

Genre: Documentary
Director: Craig Tuohy, Tom Worth
Status: Completed

Synopsis: WAR OF WORDS is an energising, controversial and inspiring feature documentary that lifts the lid on the fast growing UK battle rap scene. The film is an entertaining expose on how the UK has embraced an American art form and made it uniquely British, creating the most exciting youth subculture around today. We explore an exciting subculture of youth in the UK today; their creativity and work ethic, their passion for language and ability to control their own destiny. While the language is often harsh and unflinching, the 'anything goes' philosophy of the battle arena results in one of the most harmonious and creative scenes in youth culture. Part sport, part theatre, battle rap is a unique soapbox for eloquent, deep thinking souls to share their creativity and worldview. The film reveals the history and evolution of this unique subculture of Hip hop: charting it from its origins in playgrounds and parks, through to nightclubs and competitions. From its beginnings as a battle of quick-thinking freestyle wit, through to its current incarnation as a form of well-rehearsed poetry and theatre. Over the past two years, director's Craig Tuohy and Tom Worth have been delving deep into the world of battle rapping, filming the major people involved with the UK Battle rapping scene; the founders, organisers and biggest battlers of the hugely popular UK Don't Flop and Jump Off leagues. The film uncovers behind the scenes footage, clips from some of the best ever battles, and interviews with the top battle rappers from all over the UK including; poet Mark Grist whose battle rap with Blizzard has had over 4.5 million hits on YouTube and how our journey began. Included are interviews and footage from international superstars; Ice T, Chuck D, Scroobius Pip, Wu-Tang Clan, Professor Green and Doc Brown.

Synopsis: Tokyo, 1990s. Only two years after slaughtering and cannibalizing British student Serena Burgess in France, Tepei Hamazaki is released on technicalities. England. The Burgesses are devastated once again. Serena's younger brother Jeremy had been shielded from the details of Serena's murder by his dominating, religious father and overprotective mother. Jeremy learns Hamazaki is free but can't comprehend why his parents won't go to Japan. He takes solace in the old treehouse he used to visit with Serena and vows to make the journey alone. After a run-in with his ex-classmates, the treehouse is incinerated. Jeremy's trauma deepens. Meanwhile, Hamazaki capitalizes on his infamy while his affluent family crumbles. As the only foreigner Hamazaki will speak to, Tokyo-based French reporter Jean-Paul Lyon is ordered to interview Hamazaki but remains haunted by their past encounters and refuses. He's fired, at which time he meets alluring interpreter Kei. Years later, Jeremy works at a depressing factory. When a coworker ridicules Jeremy's past, Jeremy sets fire to the plant and is sentenced to a psychiatric prison, reigniting tabloid interest. Jeremy's mother gives him an old audio recording. Serena's happy voice reawakens his original mission - to eliminate Hamazaki. Jeremy weans off psychiatric drugs and completely reforms, being granted early release. He tells his stunned parents "I'm going to Japan." Posing as a researcher, Jeremy hires a young woman named Maki as his co-ordinator and interpreter. She's surprised when Jeremy suddenly arrives in Tokyo expecting quick access to Hamazaki. Jeremy fires her and hires her ex-mentor Kei, but Maki's kindness stays with him. Kei pushes alcoholic Jean-Paul to help Jeremy, but he's unwilling. Now an unemployable pariah, Hamazaki sparks a media bidding war by announcing his cannibalistic desires have reawakened as the tenth anniversary of Serena's death approaches. Back home, Jeremy's father is crushed by guilt over wanting his son to exact vengeance, finally allowing Jeremy's mother to take control of the situation. The UK tabloids speculate on Jeremy being in Japan. As his chances dwindle, Jeremy becomes desperate and lands in trouble with the police. Maki comes to his aid and is astonished to discover his true identity. Although uncertain about his objective, Jeremy's rage rekindles at news of Hamazaki's "comeback" celebration. Jean-Paul learns who Jeremy really is from Kei and plots to bring Hamazaki and Jeremy together. But why? Killer and victim finally come face-to-face in an explosive and unpredictable climax...
